Tend to Lose Your Glass at Parties?

The idea of putting some sort of identifier on my glass to keep track of it is attractive. Part of me worries that after a glass or two of Chardonnay I'm bound to forget which little sticker I chose! (Ha, ha) But these adorable drink labels are a great idea.

Clings (some of which are pictured here) and ClingyThingy labels offer a variety of sticker options and they're re-usable. That's better than using any old sticker that may or may not come off. No need to pick of gooey sticker residue from your glasses at the end of the night; these drink labels can be rinsed right off.
